

NINETEENTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

BREAD COME DOWN FROM HEAVEN

The prophet Elias feels tired and so dispirited that he desires death, but an angel of the Lord comes to his aid and feeds him with the strength to continue on his way. Perhaps you and I at times have reached that low point too. But if we invoke the name of the Lord he shall strengthen us with his word and with his bread to find that hope we need to continue the journey through life. St. Paul exhorts us to live as brothers in the community on our path of love. The Holy Spirit, our guide and our seal, inspires in our praises. Let us be faithful to the Spirit. He is the sweet guest of our souls.

The Jew in today's Gospel murmur in disgust because Jesus the common man from Nazareth, the son of Joseph and Mary, just another community dweller introduces himself as "he bread come down from heaven if he idea of being bread was a bit too difficult for them, the part about coming down from heaven became the source of irritable confusion.

PARISH GROUPS: Please be sure to turn off the air conditioner and lights after your meetings and double check that the doors are locked. The air conditioner should be set at 77 degrees no lower. If something spills on the floor please mop with only COLD WATER.
