

TWENTY SECOND SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

A BELIEVER OR MERELY DOUBTFUL?

The appreciation for the Word of God arrives amongst the Chosen people through Moses, his trusted messenger. He exhorts them to obey the Law as a sign of unity authentic wisdom and the adoration of the Only True God, powerful friend of all peoples. St. James reminds us that we must put into practice the Word of God. The believer is that person who is begotten by the Father through the Gospel...His duty is to live according to that Word that has given him life and which he must take to the fullness of salvation. We are not only hearers of the Word but must also be doers of that same Word in order to live religion truthfully. We humans in our daily activities need limits and boundaries, rules and guides in order to achieve precise results. We have traffic rules, academic pursuits, legal institutions, and medical practices...but we also have religious regulations ...The Gospel today is a little delicate because it moves within the ideals proposed to us by God and the fragile in the human; which often fails to achieve them.
